

HOUSE KEEPER IS LOCKED UP AFTER MURDER

Rich New York Contractor
Found Dead in His Automobile
WILL SOLVE MYSTERY

Tragedy Occurs at Lonely
Spot in the Bronx Late
Monday.

New York, Feb. 27.—Mrs. Anna Buzzi, "house keeper" for Frederick Schneider, wealthy Bronx contractor, whose body was found lying in his car at a lonely spot near Clason Point here late yesterday was locked up today by order of Assistant District Attorney Edward Glennon as a material witness in the murder.

Mrs. Buzzi, a handsome woman about 30 years old, admitted, according to police, that she had lived with Schneider as his wife since her husband, owner of a chain of hat cleaning shops, secured a divorce ten years ago, naming Schneider as co-respondent.

She gave her name as "Mrs. Schneider" when she was booked on the station blotter it was learned.

Mrs. Buzzi was arrested in Schneider's apartment where detectives declared she was known as "Mrs. Schneider." A new element was injected into the mystery when police learned that friends of the real Mrs. Schneider, who had been separated from the contractor since the Buzzi divorce suit, confidently expected a reconciliation in a short time.

Both Mrs. Buzzi and Mrs. Schneider appeared deeply affected by the contractor's death.

Mrs. Schneider wept when questioned by detectives.

"He always supported me well," she sobbed. "He brought me that car. He was good to me."

The slain contractor, reputed to be worth almost a million dollars, served as a captain in the Engineering Corps during the World War.

Mrs. Buzzi was a member of the volunteer motor corps.

More than a score of detectives were following a trail today which they hope will end in the discovery of the owner of the revolver which was found on the seat beside the slain man.

While Schneider had a permit to carry a revolver, he did not have it with him. It was found in a desk drawer at his office.

There is every indication that he was shot as he unsuspectingly drove his woman companion along the deserted roadway.

The two chow dogs, Zulu and Hula, which were found in the rear seat of the death car, have furnished a clue which is aiding detectives in their search for the murder, according to officers.

Chow dogs are notoriously unfriendly to strangers, detectives declare.

Therefore, had the woman who was in the car had been a stranger to them, they would have made some outcry.

The fact that they did not, narrows down the search for the slayer to some woman well known to the dogs and Schneider, the sleuths argue.

Mrs. Buzzi, white faced, trembling, appearing to have collapsed only by a supreme effort of the will, told her story to the police.

She denied any knowledge of how

RULES NO RIGHT TO WEAR UNIFORM

Columbus, Feb. 27.—Adjutant General Frank B. Henderson announced that Dr. Andrew Czerna of Cleveland has no right to any rank in the Ohio national guard, nor to any uniform. The decision follows protests to the state department at Washington filed by Cleveland Hungarians, who have objected to the doctor's wearing the uniform on a proposed trip to Europe. Dr. Czerna showed his commission in answer to doubts of its authenticity, and it is signed by former Governor Davis. "So far as this department is concerned it has no knowledge that such a commission exists, except from newspaper articles," General Henderson said.

Then the ice gave way and the two cars were practically submerged.

New Succeeds Work; Latter Takes Fall's Place

Washington, Feb. 27.—President Harding today shifted Dr. Hubert Work, from the Postoffice to the Interior Department and nominated Senator Harry S. New of Indiana to succeed Dr. Work as Postmaster General.

The nominations were sent to the Senate this afternoon and immediately confirmed. The changes will become effective on March 4 with the retirement of Albert B. Fall as Secretary of the Interior.

Appointment of Senator New as

postmaster general and the shifting of Dr. Work to the interior department brings an end to a series of political rows that has been going on, with considerable embarrassment to President Harding, ever since the initial publication of the proposed changes.

Republican elements in Indiana identified with the Beveridge and Watson factions entered vigorous protests to the elevation of New to the cabinet, and Rep. Wood, Republican of Indiana, made two trips to the White House particularly to protest against New's appointment. He declared it would "wreck" the party in Indiana.

Friends of Senator New, however, rallied strongly to his support and the state senate of Indiana sent a special memorial to the senate urging his appointment. Today's announcement brings an end to the bickering that has been continually in progress for four weeks.

Senator New was offered two cabinet posts prior to President Harding's inauguration, but declined both, preferring to continue in the Senate.

Senator New was defeated for re-nomination by the Republicans of Indiana last May, Albert J. Beveridge winning the nomination after one of the most spectacular political fights

HARDING COURT PLAN WILL DIE IN THE SENATE

Body Will Not Take Action
On President's Proposal.

Washington, Feb. 27.—Because of opposition of "irreconcilable" members the Senate foreign relations committee today postponed indefinitely action on the proposal of President Harding for American representation on the permanent court of international justice until the question is further clarified by additional information from the president and Secretary of State Hughes.

The committee instructed Senator Lodge, of Massachusetts, chairman, to request immediately further details of the plan from the state department. No date for another meeting was set, but Lodge declared he would communicate with the President and Secretary Hughes at once, possibly tomorrow.

Washington, Feb. 27.—President Harding will not call a special session of the senate to act upon the proposal that the United States become a member of the permanent court of international justice, organized under the league of nations, it was learned today.

A suggestion advanced by friends of the court project that the president take such action during the summer recess has met with the response that President Harding has no intention of abandoning his plans to "give the country a rest," from congress.

Washington, Feb. 27.—Death by inaction will be the fate of President Harding's proposal to the senate to permit the United States to become a member of the international court set by the league of nations.

This is the almost unanimous opinion among members of the foreign relations committee, to which the president's communication was sent.

Whether any report will be made by the committee to the senate is problematical, but the general understanding among the committee members is that discussion will be brief and no action on the proposal will be taken.

The only possible course open for bringing the suggestion to issue in the senate will be by a motion to discharge the committee from further consideration of the matter. Such a motion, however, would be debatable, and senator opposed to participation by the United States in any of the league of nations affairs would not permit such a motion to be voted upon.

Senator King of Utah introduced a resolution of ratification, providing for admission of the United States into the league court, with the reservations proposed by Secretary Hughes in his letter to the president. This resolution, like the proposal itself, probably will not be acted upon.

Discussion of the president's proposal among senators revealed strong evidences of opposition on the Republican side and only half-hearted support among the Democrats. All of the "irreconcilables" in the old league of nations fight lined up solidly against it. This included Senators Johnson, Borah, Moses, Brandegee and McCormick among the Republicans, and Shields and Reed on the Democratic side. Senators Johnson and Shields issued statements opposing it.

Senator Borah declined to make a formal statement on the subject, but allowed it to be known that if only a "judicial" court were proposed he would be for it, but if it meant a "political" court he would oppose it. Senator Brandegee also refrained from comment, excusing himself on the ground that he did not believe "the matter should be treated with levity."

Extreme critics of the president's action refer to it as a proposed "back door" entrance into the league. Some others characterize it as a "magnificent gesture," designed to please on the one hand the business interests, which are demanding more trade and stabilization with Europe, and on the other the farming interests, which are demanding wider markets for their products.

MRS. RAIZEN SENTENCED TO LIFE IMPRISONMENT IN NEW YORK

Woman Slayer of Brooklyn Physician Receives Sentence Calmly—Court Refuses Defense's Plea For Change

New York, Feb. 27.—Mrs. Lillian S. Raizen, made by Albert Conway, attorney for Mrs. Raizen to set aside the verdict as against the weight of the evidence and contrary to law.

The courtroom was crowded when the sentence was pronounced.

When Justice Cropsy pronounced sentence, Mrs. Raizen did not break down.

She visibly grew paler, but stood looking straight ahead.

"The punishment for this crime is prescribed by law," Justice Cropsy said, "and I sentence you to the state prison on Auburn, N. Y., for not less than twenty years and not more than the term of your natural life."

Then Mrs. Raizen, calm and collected, was led back to her cell.

Mrs. Raizen's father, Jacob Schaefer, sat beside Meyer Glickstein, a brother of the murdered man in the courtroom.

They chatted for a few minutes. Mrs. Raizen, calm and smiling was led into the court.

She was very pale, but her step did not falter.

FIND GIRL'S BODY AFTER MAN ALLEGED TO HAVE CONFESSED

Suspect Leads Police to
Scene of Crime and
Admits Guilt

Philadelphia, Feb. 27.—The body of Lillian Gilmore, 6, who was kidnapped from in front of her home, was found on the bank of Neshaminy creek. Wylie Morgan, who several hours before had broken down and confessed to the police to the kidnapping and killing, led a squad of police and detectives to the spot under a dead tree. The body was taken to the Gilmore home. Morgan drove an automobile containing the detectives to the exact spot.

Morgan is said to have made his confession to Lieutenant of Police David Craig. The statement came as the culmination of severe questioning, and after he had been again positively identified by 5-year-old Dorothy Gilmore as the man who lured her and the missing child away from in front of their home Saturday afternoon in an automobile.

RUSSIA BEHIND ATTEMPT TO CALL DOWN REIGN OF TERROR ON AMERICA

Trial of William Z. Foster Will Bring Out Charge That
Widespread Plot Against This Country
Instigated By Soviet.

Lansing, Mich., Feb. 27.—When William Z. Foster, first of the communist party of America, goes on trial at St. Joseph, Mich., March 12, for alleged violation of the criminal syndicalism law of the state, Michigan, it became known today, is prepared to show that the convention of the reds held at Bridgeman in August, 1922, was financed by the party now in control of Russia, according to state officials.

That instructions for conducting a reign of terror in America came direct from Russia, documents bearing these instructions possessing the seal and signatures of high officials of the Russian government; that $26,000 was provided for the expenses of the convention and that names high in the political affairs of the United States may be mentioned in some of the evidence to be presented; that Berrien County is now being flooded with propaganda, vast sums of money being used in the defense of the communists, even a former sheriff of Berrien County now serving as confidential informant for defense attorneys, are a few of the charges to be brought out at the trial.

WILL ACT FOR STATE.

Deputy Attorney General C. L. Smith, who will act for the state with Berrien County officials in the prosecution of the cases, stated today the revelations to be made at the trial will startle the public.

During recent weeks it has been discovered that a large number of those, who made their escape from the convention at the time it was raided, have fled to Russia or Germany.

To secure needed information in the fight to convict members of the communist party, nearly every large city in this section, including Chicago and Cleveland were visited.

Officials, who have been preparing the case are astounded at the extensiveness of the movement. Instructions as to how to incite strikes and riots were received direct from Russia, bearing the seal of the officials of the communist party of Moscow, and signed by N. Bucharin, K. Radek and O. W. Kuusinen all said to be high in soviet government circles.

In spreading the communists propaganda, Russian instructions advised the workers in America to confine their efforts to foreign speaking groups in cities and industrial centers. They were told to be active in every strike called. The delegates were told that the United States was to be forced into another war, according to the revelations, and that when the war came, communists would have workers practically in control of the food and fuel supply of the nation as well as in factories that might produce munitions. Then, it is alleged, just as they did in Russia, a strike was to be called, completely demoralizing the government, giving the communists an opportunity to seize it and force upon the United States a reign similar to that which has prevailed during the past four years in Russia. Copies of a speech alleged to have been delivered by Foster before the convention at Bridgeman is in the hands of the government, it is claimed.

SEEK TO BREAK BRITISH RUBBER MONOPOLY WHICH COSTS U.S. HUGE AMOUNT

Washington, Feb. 27.—Determined to break the British rubber monopoly which will cost the American public more than $200,000,000 this year, two hundred leading automobile and tire manufacturers met in Washington today to lay the ground work of a campaign to shift the crude rubber production of the world from the control of British to American interests.

American backed rubber plantations in the Philippines and in South America is the answer the manufacturers hope to make England's restriction of production and exportation of rubber, which hounded the price from 13 to 40 cents a pound in four months.

"A handful of capitalists in Great Britain control eighty-five per cent of the world's crude rubber production," Harvey S. Firestone, promoter of the conference, said today.

"We hope, with the cooperation of English, French and Italian auto and tire producers, to prove to the British government its restriction act is ineffectual, unsound, uneconomical and uncalled for. We want that act repealed. British plantation owners were making a liberal profit before the law went into effect."

"This conference wants to show the American government the advisability of encouraging American capital to invest in rubber plantations in the Philippines and South America. The Southern continent, producing crude rubber on a big scale, would find a ready market at its front door."

Automobile manufacturers pointed out that the mere two hundred per cent increase in rubber costs may result in a big curtailment of tire and motor vehicle sales, unless remedial measures are found at once.

The rubber advance will mean a complete revision of auto prices for

ALLIES SEEKING TO MAKE TURKEY RATIFY TREATY

Repeated Concessions Made
In Effort to Force
Document Through

Constantinople, Feb. 27.—The allied powers are making repeated concessions to the Turks in an effort to induce the National Assembly at Angora to ratify the Lausanne peace treaty. The French and Italian high commissioners, following the action of the British, today informed Adnan Bey that their governments were withdrawing warships from Smyrna harbor.

Great Britain, France and Italy are now maintaining only one small warship apiece in the harbor of Smyrna. The great allied fleet which was massed there while the Turks were threatening hostilities has been withdrawn.

The situation at Angora is clouded and a censorship is adding to the uncertainty. It is known that leading members of the Turkish cabinet are attempting to have the Lausanne treaty ratified. Ismet Pasha pointed to the withdrawal of the allied warships from Smyrna harbor as evidence of the good faith of the allies. The Turkish militarists are insistent that the treaty be rejected.

It was reported that the two factions may agree upon counter proposals to the allies.

DOPE BILL PASSES HOUSE—DEATH BLOW TO EVIL IN U.S.

Designed to Free Human
Race From Scourge of Narcotics.

Washington, Feb. 26.—The Porter resolution, which aims a death blow at the "dope" evil in this country, was passed unanimously by the house.

The resolution calls upon the president to open negotiations with those governments controlling production of raw narcotics with a view to limiting production to the actual medical and scientific needs.

The resolution now goes to the senate. Representative Stephen G. Porter of Pennsylvania, author of the measure and chairman of the foreign affairs committee, told the house he was certain it will pass the upper branch.

Senator Lodge, the Republican leader and chairman of the foreign relations committee, immediately will seek favorable action by polling the committee members, instead of delaying to call a meeting. Then, at the first opportunity, he will call it up and urge adoption without lengthy debate. The vote in the senate also is expected to be unanimous.

The governments to which the president will direct his demands are Great Britain (India), Persia, Turkey, in which opium is grown, and Peru, Bolivia and the Netherlands (Java), which produce coca leaves (cocaine).

ROTARY SEEKING TO SHOW INDIVIDUAL'S RESPONSIBILITY

Chicago, February 27.—With presidents, prime ministers, chief justices and heads of national legislative bodies throughout the world contributing brief statements of their ideas of the responsibilities of the individual citizen for the kind of government he gets, ninety thousand members of Rotary International begin a worldwide campaign for thorough understanding of these responsibilities as part of the celebration of the eighteenth anniversary of the founding of the first Rotary club.

President Harding, Speaker F. H. Gillett, of the House of Representatives, and Attorney General Daugherty, are the authors of the texts of the citizenship messages Rotarians in the United States are carrying to the people of their communities.

President Harding tells in his statement of the responsibilities of the individual citizen for the execution of the laws and declares no citizen can consider himself a good citizen who does not do all in his power to make careful selection from among the candidates for office and then vote for the person he has deliberately selected—which, the President remarks parenthetically, several millions of the citizens of the United States regularly fail to do by failing to vote at all.

Speaker Gillett also pleads for careful selection of the candidates for legislative office and states that the quick and the demagogue belong in the same category. In that they arouse sympathy by telling the victims of his real troubles and then offer their own remedy as the only panacea for the trouble.

Attorney General Daugherty declares that constitutional government is not possible unless the individual citizen first acquaints himself with and obeys the law himself.

The three basic statements of the principles of citizenship being used in the United States are duplicated in similar messages from the heads of the main branches of government in most of the twenty-odd countries in which the Rotary clubs have been established. The educational work the Rotarians are doing has nothing to do with partisan politics nor are the statements from three distinguished government officials partisan. They are devoted entirely to the broad principle of the responsibilities of citizenship.

The text messages are being used in addresses to schools, industrial plants, civic organizations, etc., wherever the Rotarians think they can find an audience. They are being broadcasted from thousands of radio stations and will form the subject of talks at every Rotary meeting during the week.

The first Rotary club was organized in Chicago, February 23, 1905. There are now 1325 Rotary clubs with a membership of approximately 96,000 in twenty-seven countries. The clubs are organized for the purpose of practicing and spreading the principles of citizenship.

Sick for Ten Years Gained 60 Pounds by Use of PE-RU-NA

Read This

Mr. John Wick

No matter how long you have been sick or how much you have suffered, you must not give up hope. Mr. John Wick, of Monomonee Falls, Wisconsin, did not and is a well man today. In September, 1913, he wrote: "I have been a user of Pe-ru-na for nearly twenty years. I had catarrh of the stomach for ten years. Nothing did me any good. I grew worse until a friend advised me to try Pe-ru-na. While using the first bottle, I felt I had found the right medicine. I am entirely cured. My weight was down to 135 pounds and now I weigh 195 pounds. I have used very little medicine for the last ten years."

The condition known as catarrh is not confined to the nose and throat. It may be found wherever there are mucous membranes and is responsible for a multitude of troubles. Coughs and colds are catarrhal as well as stomach and bowel disorders.

Do as John Wick did. Keep Pe-ru-na in the house. It stimulates digestion, aids in throwing off the poisonous secretions, enriches the blood, increases the resistance to disease and promotes good health generally.

Insist upon having genuine Pe-ru-na in either tablet or liquid form. Your dealer has it.

EDUCATION COSTS SHOW BIG INCREASE

Cleveland, Feb. 27.—The cost of public education in the United States increased nearly three fold in the ten-year period from 1910 to 1920. Mr. George D. Strayer, professor of education administration, told the National Educational Association at its convention here early today. While in 1910 there was expense on public education the sum of $390,500,000 in 1920 this had increased to $970,300,000.

"During the period under consideration," Dr. Strayer said, "there was a very great change in the purchasing power of the dollar."

There was as well an increase of thirty per cent in the number of days of schooling provided. To these two factors must be added the further fact of a very large increase in attendance in the upper part of the school system, where the costs are necessarily high.

THE TROUBLE IS NOT THE "UNALTERABLE LAW" BUT THE EVIDENCE.

We have all been brought up to have the same opinion of law as that expressed by Gladstone, to make it easier to do right and harder to do wrong. Law is often spoken of as uncertain, and it may sometimes be so, on account of those who make our laws being ignorant of those laws already in existence, but as a general thing where injustice is done it is the fault of the evidence and not of the law.

We have perhaps never had a more striking instance of a wrong court decision than the one which has been emphasized in our own neighborhood when, five months ago, at Wilmington, Leroy McKinney was found guilty of the murder of Emery McCreight.

McKinney has spent five months in the penitentiary and his friends have spent $6,000 in their attempts to prove him innocent. Now comes young Vandervoort and pleads guilty of the murder of McCreight and is sentenced to the penitentiary for life, and automatically McKinney became a free man as soon as the proper steps could be taken in court. A most remarkable case.

Four hundred of the country's greatest legal minds met at Washington Friday to find out what is wrong with America's legal and judicial system and to remedy the defects if possible.

This meeting, bringing together the chief justices of most of the forty-eight states and prominent barristers from every state, aims at the organization of "the American Law Institute" and is probably the most distinguished gathering of legal forces ever assembled in the United States.

That something is radically wrong with the American judicial system was candidly admitted by Elihu Root, former Secretary of State. He presented a report to the convention, the result of months of study, in which he said many American laws were complex and uncertain, that lawyers themselves were unable to agree on many laws, and he recommended an extensive revision of legal procedure and court organization.

A general discussion of the committee's report was to be followed soon by definite steps toward organization of the American Law Institute.

It was Sydney Smith who said: "When I hear any man talk of 'Unalterable law,' the only effect it produces on me is to convince me that he is an unalterable fool."

THE MOTOR BUS AND THE INTERURBAN.

The following news item which appeared in the Bucyrus (O.) Telegraph needs no explanation:

The advent of spring and the completion of the brick road between Bucyrus and Marion will no doubt be followed by the establishment of a bus service between the two towns and then will follow the supreme test between the trolley and bus. The competition between interurban and bus lines is an unequal one and often results in abandonment of the trolley. Sooner or later it will be necessary to make the competition more equitable in the interest of the public.

At present the trolley lines contribute a goodly amount in taxes to the county. The trolleys also have to build their right of way and overhead and buy expensive rolling stock and maintain power stations. The bus lines operate over perfect highways built at the expense of the public. The only bus cost is the cost of operation, without tax other than the ordinary license. Under these conditions there isn't much chance for a trolley and its demise often follows.

The abandonment of the trolley is a decided loss not only through the loss of taxes but also as a carrier of freight and in the continuity of service. A bus line runs when and where it pleases and need not maintain a fixed, continuous and regular schedule while the trolley line must give continuous service in order to make its cost of operation, and to hold its franchise. The trolley line fare is fixed by the state while the bus fare is optional with the operator.

J. S. DeLashmuth, formerly of Bucyrus, but now of Ft. Wayne, Ind., who is in Bucyrus this week reports an interesting condition in Indiana where a trolley line operates between Franklin and Lebanon. Bus competition came along and cut the rates in two. This was followed by a suspension of service on the trolley line and its abandonment. Then followed an increase in rates on the motor bus line to five times the trolley rate.

Bucyrus is much interested in the maintenance of the trolley line. While bus lines may seem to take their place just now it is possible that when the bus and truck lines are placed on a competition basis there may arise new conditions which will make it a decided advantage to have the trolley operating instead of abandoned.

WE CAN'T SETTLE THE QUARRELS OF THE WHOLE WORLD.

"More than a century ago John Quincy Adams, as the result of his study of conditions abroad, emphasized the importance of America keeping aloof from Old World quarrels. This country had, he declared, 'abstained from interference' in the concerns of others because it had seen that probably for centuries to come all the contests of the European world, will be contests between inveterate power and emerging right. 'America,' he asserted, 'is the well-wisher to the freedom and independence of all. She is the champion and vindicator of her own.' As if he had foreseen the attempt to involve this republic in the league of nations, Adams said: 'She well knows that by once enlisting under other banners than her own she would involve herself beyond the power of extrication in all the wars of interest and intrigue, of avarice, envy and ambition. The fundamental maxims of her policy would change from liberty to force.' That was wholesome advice, though given many years ago."

THEY LIKE THE LAST ONE WE SENT SO MUCH

1903--Twenty Years Ago--1923

The County Commissioners were at Treblein yesterday where they were engaged in investigating the crossing of the Pan Handle and C. H. and D. railroads, over the road at that point. The crossings are not thought to be adequate and the county surveyor will make drawings of the same and they will be presented to the railroad companies, with a view of having them improved.

The ordinance providing a side track at the Treblein elevator on South Detroit Street, came up for its last reading at the City Council meeting last night and was lost. Councilman Stiles moved to appropriate $200 for the purchase of two fire alarm boxes for Cincinnati avenue and Home avenue, the motion carrying.

The Colored Voters' Convention met at the Third Baptist Church last night and selected Mr. Harvey Y. Arnett, of Wilberforce to make the run for Representative.

With likely and lively candidates already in the field for Representative, two of the same kind in the field for Senator, and two for County Treasurer, it looks as though Greene County Republicans would have interesting times in the next few weeks.

Today's Talk

Finished Undertakings.

There is glory in a finished undertaking—be that undertaking ever so simple.

It is as though somebody or something kept tugging at our heels—all the time calling us to task, urging us to finish the job attempted and have done with it.

The rounded character is brought about through finished undertakings.

To finish one task is as good as being presented with an extra "push" with which to start the next one.

And what confidence the finisher has.

He tackles his new job as though he had been doing it all his life, for new problems are but new chances to test out newly earned skill.

Take the painter or sculptor, for instance—his life work is in the paint ings or modeled pieces which he has finished.

He is the greatest salesman who is able to finish his sales effort by getting the order sought.

Anyone can start anything. There are few who have formed the habit of always finishing what they begin—provided that it is worth finishing.

Each day finish something!

Go through. Be thorough. Do each task as though it were to be your last. Make your life a finished undertaking.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mood"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night just to keep right. Try them. 15c and 30c.

HOUSE KEEPER IS ARRESTED IN EAST

Schneider came to his death. "The last time I saw Frederick," she said, "was about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. We had been out driving and he returned to our apartment to pick up two of the six chow dogs he kept as pets."

New York, Feb. 27.—A beautiful blonde woman is being hunted in connection with the slaying of Fred Schneider, millionaire contractor of the Bronx, living apart from his wife, who was found dead lying over the wheel of his automobile.

The woman, the police were told, was seen to leave the automobile hurriedly a few minutes before the body of Schneider was found. A pistol with three exploded shells lay on the seat beside the body, and two bullets had pierced the head and another went through the neck.

In the rear seat of the curtained car two chow dogs were fast asleep, but when a policeman started to search the body they aroused and sprang upon him. The dogs had to be leashed before the coroner could proceed with his investigation. It is believed the dogs may belong to the woman sought. The police have no description of the woman they seek, except that she was a beautiful blonde and carried a large black handbag.

The body was found when a pedestrian told Patrolman James Doyle that an intoxicated man was lying over the wheel of his car in a lonely spot on Sound View avenue, near the Bronx river and Westchester road. The police said that Schneider evidently was slain while the car was in motion, as the car was in high gear when found, and the ignition key was turned. Schneider's right hand was in his overcoat pocket and his left hand, gloved, rested on the wheel of the machine.

ANTIOCH MEETS WILMINGTON IN LAST GAME

CENTRAL HIGH LEAVES FOR TOURNAMENT ON THURSDAY

BASEBALL LEAGUE FORMED; COURT RESULTS

TEAM OFF FOR TOURNEY

Coach Earl Burgner's Central High school basketball team will leave Thursday evening for Oxford where it will participate in the southwestern division preliminaries of the state basketball tournament to be held at Miami University.

Eight players will make the trip with Coach Burgner, according to his announcement Monday evening and the probable lineup to be used in competition at the Oxford School will be LeSourd and Schwab at the forwards, Zell at center and Woolery and Captain Currie at the guards, with Perrine, Baintyne and Smith in reserve.

This combination is that used by the Xenia mentor in the game with Springfield High last week and coach and fans agreed that the blue and white outfit looked better in that lineup than in any used this season. With practically entirely green material on his hands, Coach Burgner has had to do considerable experimenting this season, with the result that game after game on the regular schedule has been sacrificed to science in the hopes of hitting upon the right combination for the tournament.

"All the boys need is a little of the old fighting spirit," said Coach Burgner, Monday. "The disastrous season has taken the heart out of them and they are not entering the game with the old do and die spirit that characterized their play in football last fall. Being on the losing end of the score in a lot of games is not conducive to making the athletes enthusiastic but if they are brought to realize that they have more than a good chance to make a good record in the state tournament I think they will surprise their most ardent followers."

The shifting of Schwab forward, Zell to center and Woolery to guard, seems to have been a happy thought. In the first half of the game with Springfield the visitors were played to a standstill and if the blue and white performers had gone back into the second period with the same spirit there might have been a different story to tell. Instead, they lagged seriously in the second half.

Xenia will compete in the Class A division composed of teams from high schools in southwestern Ohio with an enrollment of more than 150 pupils, while teams from schools with smaller enrollments will be entered in the Class B division. The tournament held at Miami Friday and Saturday will be similar to other divisional tournaments held at other college floors in Ohio and will result in the selection of 16 teams from each class to go to Columbus March 9 and 10 for participation in the finals for the state championship at the Colliseum.

The divisional tourneys replace the Ohio Wesleyan University meet, inaugurated by that school a number of years ago and carried out in three big meets annually. For the preliminaries the state was divided into southern and northern divisions and the winners of these divisions played the finals the following week. The Ohio State Athletic Association Board brought about the change this year after Wesleyan had already sent out invitations. Xenia at Oxford will compete with Dayton Steele and Stivers, Piquette, Troy, Springfield, Miamisburg, Middletown Hamilton, Cincinnati high schools and other strong contenders. The drawings will be made Thursday night and reports of Xenia's progress in the tourney will be carried in this paper through arrangements with Roy Wones special sport staff writer, who will be sent to Oxford to "cover" the games.

PROTESTS GAME RESULT

The management of the Speed Merchants has written to this department to protest the account of the game between that team and the Miami Cereals, given yesterday with the score resulting 32 to 12 in favor of the Cereals. The manager of the Speed Merchants maintains that the Cereals promised to have good officials but instead had a boy referee who did not attempt to call any fouls. He alleges further that the Cereals players started a fight which resulted in his team quitting the floor before the end of the game, which was done after the management of the Cereals had agreed not to give an account of the score to the paper. The score of 32 to 12 was correct at the time the game was called.

SUNDAY LEAGUE FORMED

A new baseball league has been formed in this part of the state which will be known as the Central Ohio League. A 24 game schedule will be played.

The following towns will hold a franchise in the league, Mt. Sterling, London, West Jefferson, Bainbridge, Greenfield and Resaca. A meeting will be held Sunday and players will be signed up at that time.

The Antioch College basketball team will have its hands full Tuesday night when it stacks up against the swiftly moving Wilmington College five at Kelly Hall in Yellow Springs.

Both teams have been going good this season and the Antioch lads have beaten some mighty powerful quintets including the U. of D. Ohio Wesleyan and other leading teams while on the other hand Coach "Shifty" Bolen's pill tossers have not let any grass grow under their feet and have administered drubbings to some nifty exponents of the indoor pastime. The Antioch-Wilmington game will be broadcasted play by play by a powerful radio. This game will be the finale of the season for Coach Prugh's gang.

SEEK TO BREAK BRITISH RUBBER MONOPOLY IS WORD

spring delivery, they said. Increased cost of automobiles, as a result was fixed at from 12 to 35 per cent.

Within ten years a sufficient supply of rubber could be under production in the Philippines and in South America to meet the requirements of American manufacturers, leaders at the conference believed. Millions of acres in the Philippines where the climate is ideal to the industry, were declared to be available.

"In the islands, however, it would be necessary to bring about a revision of the land and labor laws, since holdings by one corporation of the extensive tracts needed for rubber cultivation is prohibited. This would be arranged without difficulty through the government it was thought.

Prestone outlined the purposes of the conference when the manufacturers assembled this morning. He said, by personal investigation he learned the British restriction act did not have the support of leading economists, manufacturers and the public of England, but was "the result of political influence by a group of rubber planters who desired it for seemingly selfish reasons."

He predicted because of the "inflexibility of the act many foresee an actual shortage of rubber before the end of the year, and as a result the advanced cost of tires adversely affecting use of automobiles and development of highway transportation."

Included among the speakers on the program were Senator Medill McCormick, of Illinois, who first laid the rubber situation before the Senate; Rep. Theo. Burton, and Senator-elect Simeon D. Fess, of Ohio, center of the rubber industry; Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, Major George A. Earn, former chief of the Philippine forestry service, and Philip H. Lockhart, English manufacturer.

FEDERAL AGENTS PROBING CASE IN PIKE COUNTY OHIO

Investigate Mailing of Absent Voters Ballots in That Community

Columbus, Feb. 27.—It developed at the legislative committee's probe into the Pike county election contest that federal officials had been investigating the mailing of absent voters' ballots. The committee was told by Manager Edward Kaemmerer that the records of the Columbus Blank Book company were desired by federal agents, when legal counsel for Representative Robert S. Wynn, Pike county, whose right to sit in the assembly is being contested by Harry Foster, his unsuccessful Republican opponent, sought to have records from which Kaemmerer testified made a part of the record.

Mr. Kaemmerer brought with him only the papers having to do with an order for absent voters' applications sent in by Dr. George B. Nye, Democratic leader in Pike county, and testified that the federal officials had asked for the Nye records solely. Thereupon Attorney Johnson, representing the defense, requested that Kaemmerer obtain all records and papers having to do with Pike county ballots and applications, indicating that Republicans as well as Democrats had been active in obtaining such documents from the Columbus concern.

Styles BY LENORE

Simple and carefree is a new sport suit, the smartness and chic of which make it a desirable costume for all those occasions which demand a strictly tailored appearance.

The coat, which reaches midway below the hips, is made of black flannel, the long lines of the becoming collar emphasized with bindings of the skirt material—which is as warm as beige as sand, and plaided in black.

You will notice that the skirt is neither too long for comfortable walking, nor too short to suggest the newer mode.

And should you find the combination of black with beige too strong a contrast, you have the best possible authority for keeping the entire costume in beige, using solid color for the coat, and retaining the plaid for trimming.

JAMESTOWN

A large concourse of relatives and friends assembled at the late home of Mrs. Samuel Sanders, on Friday afternoon for her funeral services which were conducted by her pastor, the Rev. N. C. Bingham of the M. E. Church, who read several scriptural selections. After prayer was offered, he confined his remarks to the immortality of the soul in a convincing manner. Two hymns "Lead Kindly Light" and "Jesus Lover of My Soul" were rendered by the choir of the M. E. Church. The services were concluded by the members of the Eastern Star, of which Mrs. Sanders was a member, exemplifying their beautiful burial service as set forth in their ritual. The casket was covered and surrounded by fragrant floral offerings. Those serving as pall bearers were J. A. Breakfield, C. W. Hemmer, Reed Owens, Frank Engle, Frank McElwaine, John Johnson. REV. TILFORD OPENS TRIANGLE SERVICES ON MONDAY EVENING

Intense interest was manifested at the First Reformed Church in the evangelistic campaign Monday night when a large number of the members of three churches heard the Rev. W. H. Telford, who delivered a timely and telling message on the topic, "Watchmen on the walls of Jerusalem." Rev. Telford compared the Christians of today to those of the days of Isaiah the prophet whose chief business was to keep an alert eye for any approaching enemy to the inhabitants of the city.

Proceeding the sermon a number of the visitation committee made reports stating that they had visited at least three hundred homes in Xenia and extended an invitation to these meetings. The scripture lesson was read by the Rev. V. F. Brown D. D. and the Rev. G. A. Scott led in prayer.

Among the many strong features of the sermon were the three things stressed by the speaker on the appointment of the watchman, who had a special task, whose responsibility to office was conditioned on faithfulness to it, even to the point of death for malfeasance. This office was two fold namely, to plead with God for the safety of the people of the city, and who were to give God no rest, nor to hold their peace, until God had fulfilled for Jerusalem all that he had promised to do. Here was the great privilege of intercession.

The point of the sermon was importance in prayer. Prayer without ceasing, was the slogan. Eternal vigilance, the price of safety was emphasized by the speaker who said that every individual of the city in which we live should feel the responsibility for the others' well being. Every body should be warned of the dangers of sin, indifference, the things that menace, and with no uncertain sound awaken them to realization of their real import, the speaker said.

Rev. Stewart sang "Open my eyes that I may see." At the close of the service a large number of the audience went to the front of the church for a prayer and consecration service.

Tuesday at three o'clock, Mrs. Stewart will conduct a bible study for women only, and at four o'clock the children's meetings will begin. These two services will be held daily, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Tuesday night, Rev. Middleton will speak on the subject "The Spiritual Resources That Make Possible a Revival."

The following are the places of prayer meetings in connection with the special services. Wednesday morning 10:00 o'clock; Orient Hill. Mrs. Ed. Rader, Columbus Street; Mrs. Marshall Wolf, 421 North King Street; Mrs. John Eavey, Dodds Apartments; Mrs. W. A. Labron, 139 East Market Street.

WEIMER WINS LONG FIGHT FOR POSITION

Dayton, O., Feb. 27.—The long drawn out controversy over the appointment of L. C. Weimer as postmaster at Dayton was ended when the senate postoffice committee agreed to report favorably the nomination. Senator Pomerene, who had blocked confirmation on grounds of political irregularities in qualifications by the civil service commission, will make no further objections, it was announced.

MRS. HICKEY SO WEAK COULD HARDLY STAND

Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health

Worcester, Mass. — "I had some trouble caused by a female weakness and got so run-down and weak from it that I could hardly stand or walk across the floor. The doctor gave me all kinds of pills, but nothing helped me. I happened to meet a friend who had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, so I thought I would try it. After taking it a week I began to improve, and now I feel fine and am doing all of my housework, including washing, sewing and house cleaning. I have recommended your medicine to my friends, and I am willing for you to use this letter as a testimonial, as I would like to help any one suffering the way I did from such a weakness." — Mrs. DEBRA HICKEY, 4 S. Ludlow St., Worcester, Mass.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women" will be sent you free upon request. Write to The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. This book contains valuable information.

Farmer's Wife: "How are the new silk bandana handkerchiefs worn?" Answer: Anywhere on the costume—as a sash, as a head-dress, or around the neck of the dress. The prettiest way that I have seen one worn, was as a rolled collar around a golden brown serge dress; the handkerchief was sewed right onto the dress, rolled two inches in diameter, completely around the neck and its two ends, tied in a perky little knot, decorated one shoulder.

A PURITAN WIFE

By Jane Phelps

Chapter XII

Ann had written her mother, asking if either she or her father were ill as she had not heard from them. But it takes several days for mail to cross the continent and then rural delivery is slow.

"I will surely hear today," she said to Dick. "If I don't I must telegraph. I am sure something is wrong."

That morning she decided to clear her clothes. Taking down Dick's suit he had worn to town, she saw it badly needed pressing, and laid it over a chair until she finished with the closet. As she threw the coat down a letter dropped from the pocket. She picked it up. It was addressed to her, in her father's handwriting.

Quickly she tore it open and read: "Dear Ann: Your mother hasn't been well lately, the doctor says she must have a change."

If you would like her to visit you for a month or two let me know by return mail, or by wire, as she must get away at once."

The letter was dated five days before Dick had gone to town. It was nearly three weeks since it had been sent.

Ann dropped, a crumpled heap into a chair.

What did it mean? Then there flashed over her memory that look on Dick's face, that puzzled look, as if he were trying to remember something. But how did he happen to get the letter, instead of its being delivered?

She could scarcely wait until he came in for his noonday meal to ask. Then she asked quietly, but with lips that trembled:

"Dick, when did you get this letter?" and laid it before him. "That's what I couldn't remember," he said flushing. "I was in the Post Office and the Post Master gave it to me, said it had just come in on the mail; that you wouldn't get it by delivery until the next day. I'm awfully sorry I forgot, Ann. It is anything important?"

"Read it?" Then: "What must they think! Oh, suppose mother should die, and I never see her again; and she might have been here with us two months—and seen the baby and—" she burst into a very tempest of sobs and tears.

"Don't, Ann. Don't, dear! I'll telephone a message to the telegraph office at once."

"They gave you the letter after you had been drinking?" Ann asked.

"Must of—never remembered a thing about it." He went to the telephone, sent a wire to Mr. Peabody asking him for an answer. Then he tried to comfort Ann.

"I told you you'd forget once too often!" she sobbed. "If mother dies I'll never forgive you!"

"Don't say that, Ann. Perhaps she will come. It may not be too late."

The next morning however they received a long telegram from Ann's father, a night message. Said he:

"Not hearing from you mother went South to her cousins. She will be home in a week or two, as much better, but another journey is out of the question."

"He can't afford it! And to think she might have been with us Ann sobbed.

"I'll pay her fare," Dick said, "I'll do anything if only you will stop crying."

He never had seen Ann cry like this. In fact she had wept very seldom.

He immediately sent another message saying that if Mrs. Peabody would visit them he would gladly pay the fare. But the answer was disappointing. She would not come now, perhaps some other time.

Ann grieved for weeks although she tried not to show it. Dick was very penitent, and tried to make up to her in every way for the sorrow his forgetfulness had caused.

Ann had written her father explaining she did not receive his letter until it was three weeks old, but giving no cause for the delay. He would blame the postal service.

"Promise me you'll never drink again, Dick! Do promise me!" she begged.

"I wouldn't keep it, Ann. There's no use making it. I can't stand the boys gadding me; saying you won't let me—that I am tied to your apron strings and all that stuff. I may be weak, but I can't stand ridicule," he morosely replied to her urging.

Dick was weak. Ann had tried not to acknowledge it even to herself. But always she had felt it.

It was that same weakness that had made him play around with Grace; Edmunds gave her the chance to tempt him. His inability to say "no".

That day he had taken her to San Bernardino she had made him forget his promise, he couldn't say no to her when she wanted to remain.

"You will drink and forget once too often, Dick. When you do, remember that there comes a time when even a wife who loves cannot forgive: I am afraid of you Dick! Afraid for myself, afraid for Jack."

"Nonsense! I'll try to pass up the boys after this, keep away from them," he told her, and with that she had to be content.

HOUSE KEEPER IS LOCKED UP AFTER MURDER

Rich New York Contractor
Found Dead in His
Automobile
WILL SOLVE MYSTERY

Tragedy Occurs at Lonely
Spot in the Bronx Late
Monday.

New York, Feb. 27.—Mrs. Anna Buzzi, "house keeper" for Frederick Schneider, wealthy Bronx contractor, whose body was found lying in his car at a lonely spot near Classon Point here late yesterday was locked up today by order of Assistant District Attorney Edward Glennon as a material witness in the murder.

Mrs. Buzzi, handsome woman about 30 years old, admitted, according to police, that she had lived with Schneider as his wife since her husband, owner of a chain of hat cleaning shops, secured a divorce ten years ago, naming Schneider as correspondent.

She gave her name as "Mrs. Schneider" when she was booked on the station blotter it was learned.

Mrs. Buzzi was arrested in Schneider's apartment where detectives declared she was known as "Mrs. Schneider." A new element was injected into the mystery when police learned that friends of the real Mrs. Schneider, who had been separated from the contractor since the Buzzi divorce suit, confidently expected a reconciliation in a short time.

Both Mrs. Buzzi and Mrs. Schneider appeared deeply affected by the contractor's death.

Mrs. Schneider wept when questioned by detectives.

"He always supported me well," she sobbed. "He brought me that car. He was good to me."

The slain contractor, reputed to be worth almost a million dollars, served as a captain in the Engineering Corps during the World War.

Mrs. Buzzi was a member of the volunteer motor corps.

More than a score of detectives were following a trail today which they hope will end in the discovery of the owner of the revolver which was found on the seat beside the slain man.

While Schneider had a permit to carry a revolver, he did not have it with him. It was found in a desk drawer at his office.

There is every indication that he was shot as he unsuspectingly drove his woman companion along the deserted roadway.

The two chow dogs, Zulu and Huhu, which were found in the rear seat of the death car, have furnished a clue which is aiding detectives in their search for the murder, according to officers.

Chow dogs are notoriously unfriendly to strangers, detectives declare.

Therefore, had the woman who was in the car had been a stranger to them, they would have made some outcry.

The fact that they did not, narrows down the search for the slayer to some woman well known to the dogs and Schneider, the sleuths argue.

Mrs. Buzzi, white faced, trembling, appearing to stave off collapse only by a supreme effort of the will, told her story to the police.

She denied any knowledge of how

RULES NO RIGHT TO WEAR UNIFORM

Columbus, Feb. 27.—Adjutant General Frank B. Henderson announced that Dr. Andrew Czerna of Cleveland has no right to any rank in the Ohio national guard, nor to any uniform. The decision follows protests to the state department at Washington filed by Cleveland Hungarians, who have objected to the doctor's wearing the uniform on a proposed trip to Europe. Dr. Czerna showed his commission in answer to doubts of its authenticity, and it is signed by former Governor Davis. "So far as this department is concerned it has no knowledge that such a commission exists, except from newspaper articles," General Henderson said.

FIVE INJURED AS TRAIN DERAILED

Orange, Mass., Feb. 27.—Four members of the crew of the Boston and Maine passenger train leaving Greenfield, for Boston at 6 a. m., and one passenger were injured today in a derailment at Miller river, near here. Those aboard the train had narrow escapes from drowning. The derailed smoking car and mail car rested on the ice long enough for the occupants to scramble up the embankment. Then the ice gave way and the two cars were practically submerged.

New Succeeds Work; Latter Takes Fall's Place

Washington, Feb. 27.—President Harding today shifted Dr. Hubert Work, from the Postoffice to the Interior Department and nominated Senator Harry S. New of Indiana to succeed Dr. Work as Postmaster General.

The nominations were sent to the Senate this afternoon and immediately confirmed. The changes will become effective on March 4 with the retirement of Albert B. Fall as Secretary of the Interior.

Appointment of Senator New as

HARDING COURT PLAN WILL DIE IN THE SENATE

Body Will Not Take Action
On President's Proposal.

Washington, Feb. 27.—Because of opposition of "irreconcilable" members the Senate foreign relations committee today postponed indefinitely action on the proposal of President Harding for American representation on the permanent court of international justice until the question is further clarified by additional information from the president and Secretary of State Hughes.

The committee instructed Senator Lodge, of Massachusetts, chairman, to request immediately further details of the plan from the state department. No date for another meeting was set, but Lodge declared he would communicate with the President and Secretary Hughes at once, possibly tomorrow.

Washington, Feb. 27.—President Harding will not call a special session of the senate to act upon the proposal that the United States become a member of the permanent court of international justice, organized under the league of nations, it was learned today.

Suggestion advanced by friends of the court project that the president take such action during the summer recess have met with the response that President Harding has no intention of abandoning his plans to "give the country a rest, from congress."

Washington, Feb. 27.—Death by inaction will be the fate of President Harding's proposal to the senate to permit the United States to become a member of the international court set by the league of nations.

This is the almost unanimous opinion among members of the foreign relations committee, to which the president's communication was sent.

Whether any report will be made by the committee to the senate is problematical, but the general understanding among the committee members is that discussion will be brief and no action on the proposal will be taken.

The only possible course open for bringing the suggestion to issue in the senate will be by a motion to discharge the committee from further consideration of the matter. Such a motion, however, would be debatable, and senator opposed to participation by the United States in any of the league of nations affairs would not permit such a motion to be voted upon.

Senator King of Utah introduced a resolution of ratification, providing for admission of the United States into the league court, with the reservations proposed by Secretary Hughes in his letter to the president. This resolution, like the proposal itself, probably will not be acted upon.

Discussion of the president's proposal among senators revealed strong evidences of opposition on the Republican side and only half-hearted support among the Democrats. All of the "irreconcilables" in the old league of nations fight lined up solidly against it. This included Senators Johnson, Borah, Moses, Brandegee and McCormick among the Republicans, and Shields and Reed on the Democratic side. Senators Johnson and Shields issued statements opposing it.

Senator Borah declined to make a formal statement on the subject, but allowed it to be known that if only a "judicial" court were proposed he would be for it, but if it meant a "political" court he would oppose it. Senator Brandegee also refrained from comment, excusing himself on the ground that he did not believe "the matter should be treated with levity."

Extreme critics of the president's action refer to it as a proposed "back door" entrance into the league. Some others characterize it as a "magnificent gesture," designed to please on the one hand the business interests, which are demanding more trade and stabilization with Europe, and on the other the farming interests, which are demanding wider markets for their products.

JUDGE AND MAYOR SENT TO PRISON

Mayor L. G. Biggers and Municipal Judge Joe Earman, of West Palm Beach, Florida, in custody of Sheriff Baker, are shown here entering the West Palm Beach Jail to serve sentences of 10 days each, imposed upon them by Circuit Judge E. C. Davis for contempt of court. The two had criticized some of the official decisions of Judge Davis. While they were in jail they were visited by Mayor Hyman, of New York, who was present where they were released on bond, pending an appeal of the case to higher courts of the State.

MRS. RAIZEN SENTENCED TO LIFE IMPRISONMENT IN NEW YORK

Woman Slayer of Brooklyn Physician Receives Sentence Calmly—Court Refuses Defense's Plea For Change

New York, Feb. 27.—Mrs. Lillian S. Raizen, made by Albert Conway, attorney for Raizen, was sentenced to from 20 years to life in prison today for the murder of Dr. Abraham Glikstein, prominent Brooklyn physician. She was convicted of second degree murder.

Justice Cropsey denied a motion

The courtroom was crowded when the sentence was pronounced.

When Justice Cropsey pronounced sentence, Mrs. Raizen did not break down.

She visibly grew paler, but stood looking straight ahead.

"The punishment for this crime is prescribed by law," Justice Cropsey said, "and I sentence you to the state prison on Auburn, N. Y., for not less than twenty years and not more than the term of your natural life."

Then Mrs. Raizen, calm and collected, was led back to her cell.

Mrs. Raizen's father, Jacob Schaefer, sat beside Meyer Glikstein, a brother of the murdered man in the courtroom.

They chatted for a few minutes. Mrs. Raizen, calm and smiling was led into the court.

She was very pale, but her step did not falter.

FIND GIRL'S BODY AFTER MAN ALLEGED TO HAVE CONFESSED

Suspect Leads Police to
Scene of Crime and
Admits Guilt

Philadelphia, Feb. 27.—The body of Lillian Gilmore, 6, who was kidnapped from in front of her home, was found on the bank of Nesquehanna creek. Wylie Morgan, who several hours before had broken down and confessed to the police to the kidnapping and killing, led a squad of police and detectives to the spot under a dead tree. The body was taken to the Gilmore home. Morgan drove an automobile containing the detectives to the exact spot.

Morgan is said to have made his confession to Lieutenant of Police David Craig. The statement came as the culmination of severe questioning, and after he had been again positively identified by 5-year-old Dorothy Gilmore as the man who lured her and the missing child away from in front of their home Saturday afternoon in an automobile.

CONFLICT AT MOSCOW.

RUSSIA BEHIND ATTEMPT TO CALL DOWN REIGN OF TERROR ON AMERICA

Trial of William Z. Foster Will Bring Out Charge That
Widespread Plot Against This Country
Instigated By Soviet.

Lansing, Mich., Feb. 27.—When William Z. Foster, first of the communist party of America, goes on trial at St. Joseph, Mich., March 12, for alleged violation of the criminal syndicalism law of the state, Michigan, it became known today, is prepared to show that the convention of the reds held at Bridgeman in August, 1922, was financed by the party now in control of Russia, according to state officials.

That instructions for conducting a reign of terror in America came direct from Russia, documents bearing these instructions possessing the seal and signatures of high officials of the Russian government; that $26,000 was provided for the expenses of the convention and that names high in the political affairs of the United States may be mentioned in some of the evidence to be presented; that Berrien County is now being flooded with propaganda, vast sums of money being used in the defense of the communists, even a former sheriff of Berrien County now serving as confidential informant for defense attorneys, are a few of the charges to be brought out at the trial.

WILL ACT FOR STATE.

Deputy Attorney General C. L. Smith, who will act for the state with Berrien County officials in the prosecution of the cases, stated today the revelations to be made at the trial will startle the public.

During recent weeks it has been discovered that a large number of those, who made their escape from the convention at the time it was raided, have fled to Russia or Germany.

To secure needed information in the fight to convict members of the communist party, nearly every large city in this section, including Chicago and Cleveland were visited.

Officials, who have been preparing the case are astounded at the extent of the movement. Instructions as to how to incite strikes and riots were received direct from Russia, bearing the seal of the officials of the communist party of Moscow, and signed by N. Bucharin, K. Radek and O. W. Kuusinen all said to be high in soviet government circles.

CONFINED TO FOREIGNERS.

In spreading the communists propaganda, Russian instructions advised the workers in America to confine their efforts to foreign speaking groups in cities and industrial centers. They were told to be active in every strike called. The delegates were told that the United States was to be forced into another war, according to the revelations, and that when the war came, communists would have workers practically in control of the food and fuel supply of the nation as well as in factories that might produce munitions. Then, it is alleged, just as they did in Russia, a strike was to be called, completely demoralizing the government, giving the communists an opportunity to seize it and force upon the United States a reign similar to that which has prevailed during the past four years in Russia. Copies of a speech alleged to have been delivered by Foster before the convention at Bridgeman is in the hands of the government, it is claimed.

Russians advised the American communists to work under ground, covering up their tracks in every conceivable way.

Under the guise of holding a convention of a literary society, the state of Michigan is prepared to show, the communists went to a little summer resort west of Bridgeman in the hills near Lake Michigan and conducted their convention for four days. So careful were they that their papers and documents were kept hidden in two barrels buried under the leaves. The discovery of this secret hiding place of their papers gave to the state an unlimited supply of important evidence to be used at the trial.

ALLIES SEEKING TO MAKE TURKEY RATIFY TREATY

Repeated Concessions Made
In Effort to Force
Document Through

Constantinople, Feb. 27.—The allied powers are making repeated concessions to the Turks in an effort to induce the National Assembly at Ankara to ratify the Lausanne peace treaty. The French and Italian high commissioners, following the action of the British, today informed Adnan Bey that their governments were with drawing warships from Smyrna harbor.

Great Britain, France and Italy are now maintaining only one small warship apiece in the harbor of Smyrna. The great allied fleet which was massed there while the Turks were threatening hostilities has been withdrawn.

The situation at Ankara is clouded and a censorship is adding to the uncertainty. It is known that leading members of the Turkish cabinet are attempting to have the Lausanne treaty ratified. Ismet Pasha pointed to the withdrawal of the allied warships from Smyrna harbor as evidence of the good faith of the allies. The Turkish militarists are insistent that the treaty be rejected.

It was reported that the two factions may agree upon counter proposals to the allies.

DOPE BILL PASSES HOUSE—DEATH BLOW TO EVIL IN U.S.

Designed to Free Human
Race From Scourge of Narcotics.

Washington, Feb. 26.—The Porter resolution, which aims a death blow at the "dope" evil in this country, was passed unanimously by the house.

The resolution calls upon the president to open negotiations with those governments controlling production of raw narcotics with a view to limiting production to the actual medical and scientific needs.

The resolution now goes to the senate. Representative Stephen G. Porter of Pennsylvania, author of the measure and chairman of the foreign affairs committee, told the house he was certain it will pass the upper branch.

Senator Lodge, the Republican leader and chairman of the foreign relations committee, immediately will seek favorable action by polling the committee members, instead of delaying to call a meeting. Then, at the first opportunity, he will call it up and urge adoption without lengthy debate. The vote in the senate also is expected to be unanimous.

The governments to which the president will direct his demands are Great Britain (India), Persia, Turkey, in which opium is grown, and Peru, Bolivia and the Netherlands (Java), which produce coca leaves (cocaine).

SEEK TO BREAK BRITISH RUBBER MONOPOLY WHICH COSTS U.S. HUGE AMOUNT

Two Hundred Leading Automobile and Tire Manufacturers of This Country Meet in Washington To Combat Evil.

Washington, Feb. 27.—Determined to break the British rubber monopoly which will cost the American public more than $200,000,000 this year, two hundred leading automobile and tire manufacturers met in Washington today to lay the ground work of a campaign to shift the crude rubber production of the world from the control of British to American interests.

American backed rubber plantations in the Philippines and in South America is the answer the manufacturers hope to make England's restriction of production and exportation of rubber, which bounced the price from 13 to 40 cents a pound in four months.

"A handful of capitalists in Great Britain control eighty-five per cent of the world's crude rubber production," Harvey S. Firestone, promoter of the conference, said today.

"We hope, with the cooperation of English, French and Italian auto and tire producers, to prove to the British government its restriction act is iniquitous, unsound, uneconomical and unequal for. We want that act repealed. British plantation owners were making a liberal profit before the law went into effect.

"This conference wants to show the American government the advisability of encouraging American capital to invest in rubber plantations in the Philippines and South America. The

VIOLENCE OCCURS IN CHICAGO; POLLS OPEN

ROTARY SEEKING TO SHOW INDIVIDUAL'S RESPONSIBILITY

Chicago, February 27.—With presidents, prime ministers, chief justices and heads of national legislative bodies throughout the world contributing brief statements of their ideas of the responsibilities of the individual citizen for the kind of government he gets, ninety thousand members of Rotary International begin a world-wide campaign for through understanding of these responsibilities as part of the celebration of the eighteenth anniversary of the founding of the first Rotary club.

President Harding, Speaker F. H. Gillett, of the House of Representatives, and Attorney General Daugherty, are the authors of the texts of the citizenship messages Rotarians in the United States are carrying to the people of their countries.

President Harding tells in his statement of the responsibilities of the individual citizen for the execution of the laws and declares no citizen can consider himself a good citizen who does not do all in his power to make careful selection from among the candidates for office and then vote for the person he has deliberately selected—which, the President remarks parenthetically, several millions of the citizens of the United States regularly fail to do by failing to vote at all.

Speaker Gillett also pleads for careful selection of the candidates for legislative office and states that the quick and the demagogue belong in the same category. In that they arouse sympathy by telling the victims of his real troubles and then offer their own remedy as the only panacea for the trouble.

Attorney General Daugherty declares that constitutional government is not possible unless the individual citizen first acquaints himself with and obeys the law himself.

The three basic statements of the principles of citizenship being used in the United States are duplicated in similar messages from the heads of the main branches of government in most of the twenty-odd countries in which the Rotary clubs have been established. The educational work the Rotarians are doing has nothing to do with partisan politics nor are the statements from three distinguished government officials partisan. They are devoted entirely to the broad principle of the responsibilities of citizenship.

The text messages are being used in addresses to schools, industrial plants, civic organizations, etc., wherever the Rotarians think they can find an audience. They are being broadcasted from thousands of radio stations and will form the subject of talks at every Rotary meeting during the week.

The first Rotary club was organized in Chicago, February 23, 1905. There are now 1325 Rotary clubs with a membership of approximately 96,000 in twenty-seven countries. The clubs are organized for the purpose of practicing and spreading the principles of citizenship.

Sick for Ten Years Gained 60 Pounds by Use of PE-RU-NA

Read This

Mr. John Wick

No matter how long you have been sick or how much you have suffered, you must not give up hope. Mr. John Wick, of Monomonee Falls, Wisconsin, did not and is a well man today. In September, 1918, he wrote: "I have been a user of Pe-ru-na for nearly twenty years. I had catarrh of the stomach for ten years. Nothing did me any good. I grew worse until a friend advised me to try Pe-ru-na. While using the first bottle, I felt I had found the right medicine. I am entirely cured. My weight was down to 135 pounds and now I weigh 195 pounds. I have used very little medicine for the last ten years."

The condition known as catarrh is not confined to the nose and throat. It may be found wherever there are mucous membranes and is responsible for a multitude of troubles. Coughs and colds are catarrhal as well as stomach and bowel disorders.

Do as John Wick did. Keep Pe-ru-na in the house. It stimulates digestion, aids in throwing off the poisonous secretions, enriches the blood, increases the resistance to disease and promotes good health generally.

Insist upon having genuine Pe-ru-na in either tablet or liquid form. Your dealer has it.

EDUCATION COSTS SHOW BIG INCREASE

Cleveland, Feb. 27.—The cost of public education in the United States increased nearly three fold in the ten-year period from 1910 to 1920. Mr. George D. Strayer, professor of education administration, told the National Educational Association at its convention here early today. While in 1910 there was expense on public education the sum of $390,500,000 in 1920 this had increased to $970,300,000.

"During the period under consideration," Dr. Strayer said, "there was a very great change in the purchasing power of the dollar."

There was as well an increase of thirty per cent in the number of days of schooling provided. To these two factors must be added the further fact of a very large increase in attendance in the upper part of the school system, where the costs are necessarily high.

It never gets out of shape, it seldom needs pressing, and it will outwear three average overcoats because it is made exclusively of the long fine selected fibres of pure virgin wool.

It is made in the following shades: Gray, brown heather, tan heather, dark green mixture, light green Scotch mixture and oxford.

If you drive your own car—buy one. If after wearing it two years you do not think it's the most wonderful motoring coat you ever heard of or if it doesn't wear better than any coat you ever had in your life, bring it back and we will refund the entire price of the coat.

THE TROUBLE IS NOT THE "UNALTERABLE LAW" BUT THE EVIDENCE.

We have all been brought up to have the same opinion of law as that expressed by Gladstone, to make it easier to do right and harder to do wrong. Law is often spoken of as uncertain, and it may sometimes be so, on account of those who make our laws being ignorant of those laws already in existence, but as a general thing where injustice is done it is the fault of the evidence and not of the law.

We have perhaps never had a more striking instance of a wrong court decision than the one which has been emphasized in our own neighborhood when, five months ago, at Wilmington, Leroy McKinney was found guilty of the murder of Emery McCreight.

McKinney has spent five months in the penitentiary and his friends have spent $6,000 in their attempts to prove him innocent. Now comes young Vandervoort and pleads guilty of the murder of McCreight and is sentenced to the penitentiary for life, and automatically McKinney became a free man as soon as the proper steps could be taken in court. A most remarkable case.

Four hundred of the country's greatest legal minds met at Washington Friday to find out what is wrong with America's legal and judicial system and to remedy the defects if possible.

This meeting, bringing together the chief justices of most of the forty-eight states and prominent barristers from every state, aims at the organization of "the American Law Institute" and is probably the most distinguished gathering of legal forces ever assembled in the United States.

That something is radically wrong with the American judicial system was candidly admitted by Elihu Root, former Secretary of State. He presented a report to the convention, the result of months of study, in which he said many American laws were complex and uncertain, that lawyers themselves were unable to agree on many laws, and he recommended an extensive revision of legal procedure and court organization.

A general discussion of the committee's report was to be followed soon by definite steps toward organization of the American Law Institute.

It was Sydney Smith who said: "When I hear any man talk of 'Unalterable law,' the only effect it produces on me is to convince me that he is an unalterable fool."

THE MOTOR BUS AND THE INTERURBAN.

The following news item which appeared in the Bucyrus (O.) Telegraph needs no explanation:

The advent of spring and the completion of the brick road between Bucyrus and Marion will no doubt be followed by the establishment of a bus service between the two towns and then will follow the supreme test between the trolley and bus. The competition between interurban and bus lines is an unequal one and often results in abandonment of the trolley. Sooner or later it will be necessary to make the competition more equitable in the interest of the public.

At present the trolley lines contribute a goodly amount in taxes to the county. The trolleys also have to build their right of way and overhead and buy expensive rolling stock and maintain power stations. The bus lines operate over perfect highways built at the expense of the public. The only bus cost is the cost of operation, without tax other than the ordinary license. Under these conditions there isn't much chance for a trolley and its demise often follows.

The abandonment of the trolley is a decided loss not only through the loss of taxes but also as a carrier of freight and in the continuity of service. A bus line runs when and where it pleases and need not maintain a fixed, continuous and regular schedule while the trolley line must give continuous service in order to make its cost of operation, and to hold its franchise. The trolley line fare is fixed by the state while the bus fare is optional with the operator.

J. S. DeLashmuth, formerly of Bucyrus, but now of Ft. Wayne, Ind., who is in Bucyrus this week reports an interesting condition in Indiana where a trolley line operates between Franklin and Lebanon. Bus competition came along and cut the rates in two. This was followed by a suspension of service on the trolley line and its abandonment. Then followed an increase in rates on the motor bus line to five times the trolley rate.

Bucyrus is much interested in the maintenance of the trolley line. While bus lines may seem to take their place just now it is possible that when the bus and truck lines are placed on a competition basis there may arise new conditions which will make it a decided advantage to have the trolley operating instead of abandoned.

WE CAN'T SETTLE THE QUARRELS OF THE WHOLE WORLD.

"More than a century ago John Quincy Adams, as the result of his study of conditions abroad, emphasized the importance of America keeping aloof from Old World quarrels. This country had, he declared, 'abstained from interference' in the concerns of others because it had seen that probably for centuries to come all the contests of the European world, will be contests between inveterate power and emerging right. 'America,' he asserted, 'is the well-wisher to the freedom and independence of all. She is the champion and vindicator of her own.' As if he had foreseen the attempt to involve this republic in the league of nations, Adams said: 'She well knows that by once enlisting under other banners than her own she would involve herself beyond the power of extrication in all the wars of interest and intrigue, of avarice, envy and ambition. The fundamental maxims of her policy would change from liberty to force.' That was wholesome advice, though given many years ago."

THEY LIKE THE LAST ONE WE SENT SO MUCH

1903--Twenty Years Ago--1923

The County Commissioners were at Trebleins yesterday where they were engaged in investigating the crossing of the Pan Handle and C. H. and D. railroads, over the road at that point. The crossings are not thought to be adequate and the county surveyor will make drawings of the same and they will be presented to the railroad companies, with a view of having them improved.

The ordinance providing a side track at the Trebleins elevator on South Detroit Street, came up for its last reading at the City Council meeting last night and was lost. Connelman Stiles moved to appropriate $200 for the purchase of two fire alarm boxes for Cincinnati avenue and Home avenue, the motion carrying.

The Colored Voters' Convention met at the Third Baptist Church last night and selected Mr. Harvey Y. Arnett, of Wilberforce to make the run for Representative.

With likely and lively candidates already in the field for Representative, two of the same kind in the field for Senator, and two for County Treasurer, it looks as though Greene County Republicans would have interesting times in the next few weeks.

Grace L. T.—You will fatten the ankles if you massage cocoa butter into them every day.

U. S. C.—There is not the slightest impropriety in a prospective bride going to her future home accompanied by her mother.

It is entirely a matter of taste whether or not you prefer hats for the bridesmaids. The hour of the wedding has nothing to do with it.

H. M.—It is natural for the pupil of the eye to contract and expand. Such condition is a protection to the sensitive mechanism of the eye itself.

A. C.—A list of foods for reduction would consume too much space at this time. I will be glad to mail this to you, however, if you request it and send a s. a. s. e.

Ruth E. F.—As you are only five pounds overweight you can easily correct it if you eat just a little less than at present, or omit some of the starchy foods for a time.

Betty B.—Apparently you have already improved your complexion but you are losing patience because there is still some more work to be done. Continue with your treatment, and never neglect to close the pores at the last by using either an ice rub or dashes of very cold water.

Gradually you will restore the texture of the skin until it will be the equal of your sister's.

D. L.—You can never correct a very oily skin by piling on powder. In most cases it is best not to use any as it will not adhere to the skin and leave it either shining or in patches. Such complexions look better if they are occasionally wiped off with a piece of camellia as it leaves the skin clean while it absorbs all the abnormal secretion.

As this condition comes from digestive, and often intestinal sluggishness, the cure is easy. If it is not corrected internally the skin will grow coarser all the time since Nature, in trying to relieve itself through the pores of the skin, brings about such a result.

Alexia.—That sallowness that sometimes follows a summer of continued tanning is often as difficult to bleach off as yours. Try peroxide of hydrogen and give the arms several daily applications, leaving it to dry into the skin each time. This will also bleach the hair that has darkened.

Mickey.—Usually, when the hands are frail, it is because the whole system is in need of building up. Often the hands will indicate the state of the health before the countenance shows it. Massaging a flesh cream into a thin hand will nourish it to a degree, but it will require a fair amount of health and good circulation to give the palms and the finger tips that rosy tint you desire.

What This Buffalo Physician Has Done For Humanity

The picture which appears here of Dr. Pierce of Buffalo, N. Y., was taken in 1910. As a young man Dr. Pierce practiced medicine in Pennsylvania and was known far and wide for his great success in alleviating disease. He early moved to Buffalo and put up in ready-to-use form, his Golden Medical Discovery, the well-known tonic for the blood. This strength-builder is made from a formula which Dr. Pierce found most effective in diseases of the blood. It contains no alcohol and is an extract of native roots with the ingredients plainly stated on the wrapper. Good red blood, vim, vigor and vitality are sure to follow if you take this Alternative Extract. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery clears away pimples and annoying eruptions and tends to keep the complexion fresh and clear. This Discovery corrects the disordered conditions in a sick stomach, aids digestion, acts as a tonic and purifies the blood. Write Dr. Pierce's Invalids Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., and receive confidential medical advice without charge. All druggists sell Discovery, tablets or liquid. Send 10c for trial pkg.

Today's Talk

Finished Undertakings.

There is glory in a finished undertaking—be that undertaking ever so simple.

It is as though somebody or something kept tugging at our heels—all the time calling us to task, urging us to finished the job attempted and have done with it.

The rounded character is brought about through finished undertakings.

To finish one task is as good as being presented with an extra "push" with which to start the next one.

And what confidence the finisher has.

He tackles his new job as though he had been doing it all his life, for new problems are but new chances to test out newly earned skill.

Take the painter or sculptor, for instance—his life work is in the paint ings or modeled pieces which he has finished.

He is the greatest salesman who is able to finish his sales effort by getting the order sought.

Anyone can start anything. There are few who have formed the habit of always finishing what they begin—provided that it is worth finishing.

Each day finish something! Go through. Be thorough. Do each task as though it were to be your last. Make your life a finished undertaking.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No gripping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night just to keep right. Try them. 15c and 30c.

E. J. THORNHILL FORMERLY OF XENIA DIES IN DAYTON

Edward J. Thornhill, 49, former Xenia business man, died Monday morning at his home on Van Buren avenue, Dayton, according to word received by relatives in Greene County. Mr. Thornhill has resided in Dayton for the past four years, but preceding that time had spent practically all of his life in the vicinity of Xenia.

He was born near New Jasper, coming to Xenia when a young man. His wife was formerly Miss Myrtle Tiff, of Xenia. Mr. Thornhill was for a number of years engaged in the lively stable business in this city and was well known throughout the community.

Besides his wife, he is survived by one son, Harold Thornhill, at home; his father, Malory Thornhill, of Port William, two brothers, Press Thornhill, Dayton; Arthur Thornhill of near Alpha; four sisters; Mrs. Maude Harness of south of Xenia; Mrs. Olive Hite, of Port William, Mrs. Nora Bates of Cedarville, and Mrs. Augusta Rhodes of North Dakota.

Funeral services will be held from the funeral parlors of Morris and Son's on East Third Street, Dayton, Wednesday afternoon at one o'clock, with interment at Woodland cemetery, this city.

Schneider came to his death. "The last time I saw Frederick," she said, "was about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. We had been out driving and he returned to our apartment to pick up two of the six chow dogs he kept as pets.

New York, Feb. 27.—A beautiful blonde woman is being hunted in connection with the slaying of Fred Schneider, millionaire contractor of the Bronx, living apart from his wife, who was found dead lying over the wheel of his automobile.

The woman, the police were told, was seen to leave the automobile hurriedly a few minutes before the body of Schneider was found. A pistol with three exploded shells lay on the seat beside the body, and two bullets had pierced the head and another went through the neck.

In the rear seat of the curtained car two chow dogs were fast asleep, but when a policeman started to search the body they aroused and sprang upon him. The dogs had to be leashed before the coroner could proceed with his investigation. It is believed the dogs may belong to the woman sought. The police have no description of the woman they seek, except that she was a beautiful blonde and carried a large black handbag.

The body was found when a pedestrian told Patrolman James Doyle that an intoxicated man was lying over the wheel of his car in a lonely spot on Sound View avenue, near the Bronx river and Westchester road. The police said that Schneider evidently was slain while the car was in motion, as the car was in high gear when found, and the ignition key was turned. Schneider's right hand was in his overcoat pocket and his left hand, gloved, rested on the wheel of the machine.

ANTIOCH MEETS WILMINGTON IN LAST GAME

CENTRAL HIGH LEAVES FOR TOURNAMENT ON THURSDAY

BASEBALL LEAGUE FORMED; COURT RESULTS

TEAM OFF FOR TOURNEY

Coach Earl Barger's Central High school basketball team will leave Thursday evening for Oxford where it will participate in the southwestern division preliminaries of the state basketball tournament to be held at Miami University.

Eight players will make the trip with Coach Barger, according to his announcement Monday evening and the probable lineup to be used in competition at the Oxford School will be LeSourd and Schwab at the forwards, Zell at center and Woolary and Caplin Currie at the guards, with Perrine, Baintyne and Smith in reserve.

This combination is that used by the Xenia mentor in the game with Springfield High last week and coach and fans agreed that the blue and white outfit looked better in that lineup than in any used this season. With practically entirely green material on his hands, Coach Barger has had to do considerable experimenting this season, with the result that game after game on the regular schedule has been sacrificed to science in the hopes of hitting upon the right combination for the tournament.

"All the boys need is a little of the old fighting spirit," said Coach Barger, Monday. "The disastrous season has taken the heart out of them and they are not entering the game with the old do and die spirit that characterized their play in football last fall. Being on the losing end of the score in a lot of games is not conducive to making the athletes enthusiastic but if they are brought to realize that they have more than a good chance to make a good record in the state tournament I think they will surprise their most ardent followers."

The shifting of Schwab forward, Zell to center and Woolary to guard, seems to have been a happy thought. In the first half of the game with Springfield the visitors were played to a standstill and if the blue and white performers had gone back into the second period with the same spirit there might have been a different story to tell. Instead, they lagged seriously in the second half.

Xenia will compete in the Class A, division composed of teams from high schools in southwestern Ohio with an enrollment of more than 150 pupils, while teams from schools with smaller enrollments will be entered in the Class B division. The tournament held at Miami Friday and Saturday will be similar to other divisional tournaments held at other college floors in Ohio and will result in the selection of 16 teams from each class to go to Columbus March 9 and 10 for participation in the finals for the state championship at the Coliseum.

The divisional tournaments replace the Ohio Wesleyan University meet, inaugurated by that school a number of years ago and carried out in three big meets annually. For the preliminaries the state was divided into southern and northern divisions and the winners of these divisions played the finals the following week. The Ohio State Athletic Association Board brought about the change this year after Wesleyan had already sent out invitations. Xenia at Oxford will compete with Dayton Steele and Stivers, Piqua, Troy, Springfield, Miami, Middletown Hamilton, Cincinnati high schools and other strong contenders. The drawings will be made Thursday night and reports of Xenia's progress in the tourney will be carried in this paper through arrangements with Roy Wones special sport staff writer, who will be sent to Oxford to "cover" the games.

PROTESTS GAME RESULT

The management of the Speed Merchants has written to this department to protest the account of the game between that team and the Miami Cereals, given yesterday with the score resulting 32 to 12 in favor of the Cereals. The manager of the Speed Merchants maintains that the Cereals promised to have good officials but instead had a boy referee who did not attempt to call any fouls. He alleges further that the Cereals players started a fight which resulted in his team quitting the floor before the end of the game, which was done after the management of the Cereals had agreed not to give an account of the score to the paper. The score of 32 to 12 was correct at the time the game was called.

SUNDAY LEAGUE FORMED

A new baseball league has been formed in this part of the state which will be known as the Central Ohio League. A 24 game schedule will be played.

The following towns will hold a franchise in the league, Mt. Sterling, London, West Jefferson, Bainbridge, Greenfield and Resaca. A meeting will be held Sunday and players will be signed up at that time.

The Antioch College basketball team will have its hands full Tuesday night when it stacks up against the swiftly moving Wilmington College five at Kelly Hall in Yellow Springs.

Both teams have been going good this season and the Antioch lads have beaten some mighty powerful quintets including the U. of D. Ohio Wesleyan and other leading teams while on the other hand Coach "Shifty" Bolen's pill tossers have not let any grass grow under their feet and have administered drubblings to some nifty opponents of the indoor pastime.

The Antioch-Wilmington game will be broadcasted play by play by a powerful radio. This game will be the finale of the season for Coach Prugh's gang.

spring delivery, they said. Increased cost of automobiles, as a result was fixed at from 12 to 25 per cent.

Within ten years a sufficient supply of rubber could be under production in the Philippines and in South America to meet the requirements of American manufacturers, leaders at the conference believed. Millions of acres in the Philippines where the climate is ideal to the industry, were declared to be available.

"In the islands, however, it would be necessary to bring about a revision of the land and labor laws, since holdings by one corporation of the extensive tracts needed for rubber cultivation is prohibited. This would be arranged without difficulty through the government it was thought.

Prestone outlined the purposes of the conference when the manufacturers assembled this morning. He said, by personal investigation he learned the British restriction act did not have the support of leading economists, manufacturers and the public of England, but was "the result of political influence by a group of rubber planters who desired it for seemingly selfish reasons."

He predicted because of the "inflexibility of the act many foresee an actual shortage of rubber before the end of the year, and as a result the advanced cost of tires adversely affecting use of automobiles and development of highway transportation."

Included among the speakers on the program were Senator Medill McCormick, of Illinois, who first laid the rubber situation before the Senate; Rep. Theo. Burton, and Senator-elect Simeon D. Fess, of Ohio, center of the rubber industry; Secretary of Agriculture Wallace; Major George Ahern, former chief of the Philippine forestry service, and Philip H. Lockhart, English manufacturer.

FEDERAL AGENTS PROBING CASE IN PIKE COUNTY OHIO

Investigate Mailing of Absent Voters Ballots in That Community

Columbus, Feb. 27.—It developed at the legislative committee's probe into the Pike county election contest that federal officials had been investigating the mailing of absent voters' ballots. The committee was told by Manager Edward Kaemmerer that the records of the Columbus Blank Book company were desired by federal agents, when legal counsel for Representative Robert S. Wynn, Pike county, whose right to sit in the assembly is being contested by Harry Foster, his unsuccessful Republican opponent, sought to have records from which Kaemmerer testified made a part of the record.

Mr. Kaemmerer brought with him only the papers having to do with an order for absent voters' applications sent in by Dr. George B. Nye, Democratic leader in Pike county, and testified that the federal officials had asked for the Nye records solely. Thereupon Attorney Johnson, representing the defense, requested that Kaemmerer obtain all records and papers having to do with Pike county ballots and applications, indicating that Republicans as well as Democrats had been active in obtaining such documents from the Columbus concern.

Styles BY LENORE

Simple and carefree is a new sport suit, the smartness and chic of which make it a desirable costume for all those occasions which demand a strictly tailored appearance.

The coat, which reaches midway below the hips, is made of black flannel, the long lines of the becoming collar emphasized with bindings of the skirt material—which is as warmly beige as sand, and plaided in black.

You will notice that the skirt is neither too long for comfortable walking, nor too short to suggest the newer mode.

And should you find the combination of black with beige too strong a contrast, you have the best possible authority for keeping the entire costume in beige, using solid color for the coat, and retaining the plaid for trimming.

BILIOUSNESS—SICK HEADACHE, call for an NIGHTMARE (a vegetable aperient) to tone and strengthen the organs of digestion and elimination. Improves Appetite, Relieves Constipation.

REV. TILFORD OPENS TRIANGLE SERVICES ON MONDAY EVENING

Intense interest was manifested at the First Reformed Church in the evangelistic campaign Monday night when a large number of the members of three churches heard the Rev. W. H. Telford, who delivered a timely and telling message on the topic, "Watchmen on the walls of Jerusalem." Rev. Telford compared the Christians of today to those of the days of Isaiah the prophet whose chief business was to keep an alert eye for any approaching enemy to the inhabitants of the city.

Proceeding the sermon a number of the visitation committee made reports stating that they had visited at least three hundred homes in Xenia and extended an invitation to these meetings. The scripture lesson was read by the Rev. V. F. Brown D. D. and the Rev. G. A. Scott led in prayer.

Among the many strong features of the sermon were the three things stressed by the speaker on the appointment of the watchman, who had a special task, whose responsibility to office was conditioned on faithfulness to it, even to the point of death for malfeasance. This office was two fold namely, to plead with God for the safety of the people of the city, and who were to give God no rest, nor to hold their peace, until God had fulfilled for Jerusalem all that he had promised to do. Here was the great privilege of intercession.

The point of the sermon was importantly in prayer. Prayer without fasting, was the slogan. Eternal vigilance, the price of safety was emphasized by the speaker who said that every individual of the city in which we live should feel the responsibility for the others' well being. Every body should be warned of the dangers of sin, indifference, the things that menace, and with no uncertain sound awaken them to realization of their real import, the speaker said.

Rev. Stewart sang "Open my eyes that I may see." At the close of the service a large number of the audience went to the front of the church for a prayer and consecration service.

Tuesday at three o'clock, Mrs. Stewart will conduct a bible study for women only, and at four o'clock the children's meetings will begin. These two services will be held daily, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Tuesday night, Rev. Middleton will speak on the subject "The Spiritual Resources That Make Possible a Revival."

The following are the places of prayer meetings in connection with the special services, Wednesday morning 10:00 o'clock; Orient Hill, Mrs. Ed. Rader, Columbus Street; Mrs. Marshall Wolf, 421 North King Street; Mrs. John Eavey, Dodds Apartments; Mrs. W. A. Labron, 139 East Market Street.

MRS. HICKEY SO WEAK COULD HARDLY STAND

Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health

Worcester, Mass.—"I had some trouble caused by a female weakness and got so run-down and weak from it that I could hardly stand or walk across the floor. The doctor gave me all kinds of pills, but nothing helped me. I happened to meet a friend who had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, so I thought I would try it. After taking it a week I began to improve, and now I feel fine and am doing all of my housework, including washing, sewing and house cleaning. I have recommended your medicine to my friends, and I am willing for you to use this letter as a testimonial, as I would like to help any one suffering the way I did from such a weakness."—Mrs. DELIA HICKEY, 4 S. Ludlow St., Worcester, Mass.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women" will be sent you free upon request. Write to The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. This book contains valuable information.

Farmer's Wife: "How are the new silk bandana handkerchiefs worn?"

Answer: Anywhere on the costume—as a sash, as a head-dress, or around the neck of the dress. The prettiest way that I have seen one worn, was as a rolled collar around a golden brown serge dress; the handkerchief was sewed right onto the dress, rolled two inches in diameter, completely around the neck and its two ends, tied in a perky little knot, decorated one shoulder.

A PURITAN WIFE

By Jane Phelps

Chapter XIX

Ann had written her mother, asking if either she or her father were ill as she had not heard from them. But it takes several days for mail to cross the continent and then rural delivery is slow.

"I will surely hear today," she said to Dick. "If I don't I must telegraph. I am sure something is wrong."

That morning she decided to clear her clothes.

Taking down Dick's suit he had worn to town, she saw it badly needed pressing, and laid it over a chair until she finished with the chest. As she threw the coat down a letter dropped from the pocket. She picked it up. It was addressed to her, in her father's handwriting.

Quickly she tore it open and read:

"Dear Ann: Your mother hasn't been well lately, the doctor says she must have a change.

If you would like her to visit you for a month or two let me know by return mail, or by wire, as she must get away at once."

The letter was dated five days before Dick had gone to town. It was nearly three weeks since it had been sent.

Ann dropped, a crumpled heap into a chair.

What did it mean? Then there flashed over her memory that look on Dick's face, that puzzled look, as if he were trying to remember something. But how did he happen to get the letter, instead of its being delivered?

She could scarcely wait until he came in for his noonday meal to ask. Then she asked quietly, but with lips that trembled:

"Dick, when did you get this letter?" and laid it before him.

"That's what I couldn't remember," he said flushing. "I was in the Post Office and the Post Master gave it to me, said it had just come in on the mail; that you wouldn't get it by delivery until the next day. I'm awfully sorry I forgot, Ann. It is anything important?"

"Read it?" Then: "What must they think! Oh, suppose mother should die, and I never see her again, and she might have been here with us two months—and seen the baby and—?" she burst into a very tempest of sobs and tears.

"Don't, Ann. Don't, dear! I'll telegraph a message to the telegraph office at once."

"They gave you the letter after you had been drinking?" Ann asked.

"Must of—never remembered a thing about it." He went to the telephone, sent a wire to Mr. Peabody asking him for an answer. Then he tried to comfort Ann.

"I told you you'd forget once too often!" she sobbed. "If mother dies I'll never forgive you!"

"Don't say that, Ann. Perhaps she will come. It may not be too late."

The next morning however they received a long telegram from Ann's father, a night message. Said he:

"Not hearing from you mother went South to her cousins. She will be home in a week or two, as much better, but another journey is out of the question."

"He can't afford it! And to think she might have been with us Ann sobbed.

"I'll pay her fare," Dick said. "I'll do anything if only you will stop crying."

He never had seen Ann cry like this. In fact she had wept very seldom.

He immediately sent another message saying that if Mrs. Peabody would visit them he would gladly pay the fare.

But the answer was disappointing. She would not come now, perhaps some other time.

Ann grieved for weeks although she tried not to show it. Dick was very penitent, and tried to make up to her in every way for the sorrow his forgetfulness had caused.

Ann had written her father explaining she did not receive his letter until it was three weeks old, but giving no cause for the delay. He would blame the postal service.

"Promise me you'll never drink again, Dick! Do promise me!" she begged.

"I wouldn't keep it, Ann. There's no use making it. I can't stand the boys gadding me; saying you won't let me—that I am tied to your apron strings and all that stuff. I may be weak, but I can't stand ridicule," he morosely replied to her urging.

Dick was weak. Ann had tried not to acknowledge it even to herself. But always she had felt it.

It was that same weakness that had made him play around with Grace Edmunds give her the chance to tempt him. His inability to say "no!"

That day he had taken her to San Bernardino she had made him forget his promise, he couldn't say no to her when she wanted to remain.

"You will drink and forget once too often, Dick. When you do, remember that there comes a time when even a wife who loves cannot forgive! I am afraid of you Dick! Afraid for myself, afraid for Jack."

Eohfidafldjg'falthB'wetaoin hrd "Nonsense! I'll try to pass up the boys after this, keep away from them," he told her, and with that she had to be content.
